

What better way to remember your trip to Saba than with a piece of Caribbean art? The Peanut Gallery, owned by Judy & Jim Stewart, carries a variety of works by artists from Saba and a number of other Caribbean islands. Framed paintings by Robert Lynn, Barbara Joyce, Sara Muender, Mark Dykstra, Heleen Cornet, Lucia Trifan, and many others cover the walls of this brightly colored shop, located in the Lambee Plaza in Windwardside. The gallery also carries wood carvings, ceramics, and home-made banjos made on Saba. Judy can regularly be found in the gallery working on her potter's wheel, matting paintings, and creating island placemats in the form of elephant ears, fish and turtles. Please come in, relax with us, and enjoy the art of the Caribbean.

The Peanut Gallery

Experience the art of the Caribbean

Windwardside
Saba
Netherlands Antilles

Judy & Jim Stewart
599-416-2509
judysaba@hotmail.com
Open daily except Mondays

The logo for The Peanut Gallery features a stylized palm tree on the left and a large, bright yellow sun on the right. The sun is partially obscured by the text 'Experience the art of the Caribbean'. The background is a light blue gradient.

